2. As you may be aware, the DDCI has been invited to testify in a hearing for the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence on 17 February. The general subject is INF monitoring. I refer to this specific hearing as the session on "Resources and Their Usage," although the official title approximately is our future plans for INF monitoring.

3. Attached is some useful correspondence intended for the Intelligence Community Staff, the National Security Council, and the interagency arms control crowd (via who is the IC Staff player on the DCI's Strategic Arms Monitoring Working Group).

4. The key points from all of this are:

- o The hearing on 17 February effects you and we want you to participate in the preparations for the DDCI.
- o A draft of the proposed testimony will arrive via LDX late Friday or over the weekend for your comment. We want to hear of any major problems you may have and we will need substitute text to fix any major problems.
- o It may be that updated, or new, pieces of work will be necessary for this testimony. An example we can foresee now is that we will need an as of about 8-10 February.

These comments and inputs should be provided without delay to D/REO/ICS. He can be reached on cuts. Separate correspondence will arrive shortly. Again, the idea will be that the IC Staff will create a draft and make it available to you for your major comments.

6. Meanwhile, it would be very helpful if you would make available to us, and the others on this LDX, copies of any proposed testimony your principal has prepared or intends to deliver.

7. If you have any comments or reactions, please call and let me know.
